

One World
Network
North East

One World Network North East

Our goal is to increase the quality and quantity of global learning in north east schools, enabling young people to act as responsible global citizens, able and committed to shaping the world in the interests of all.

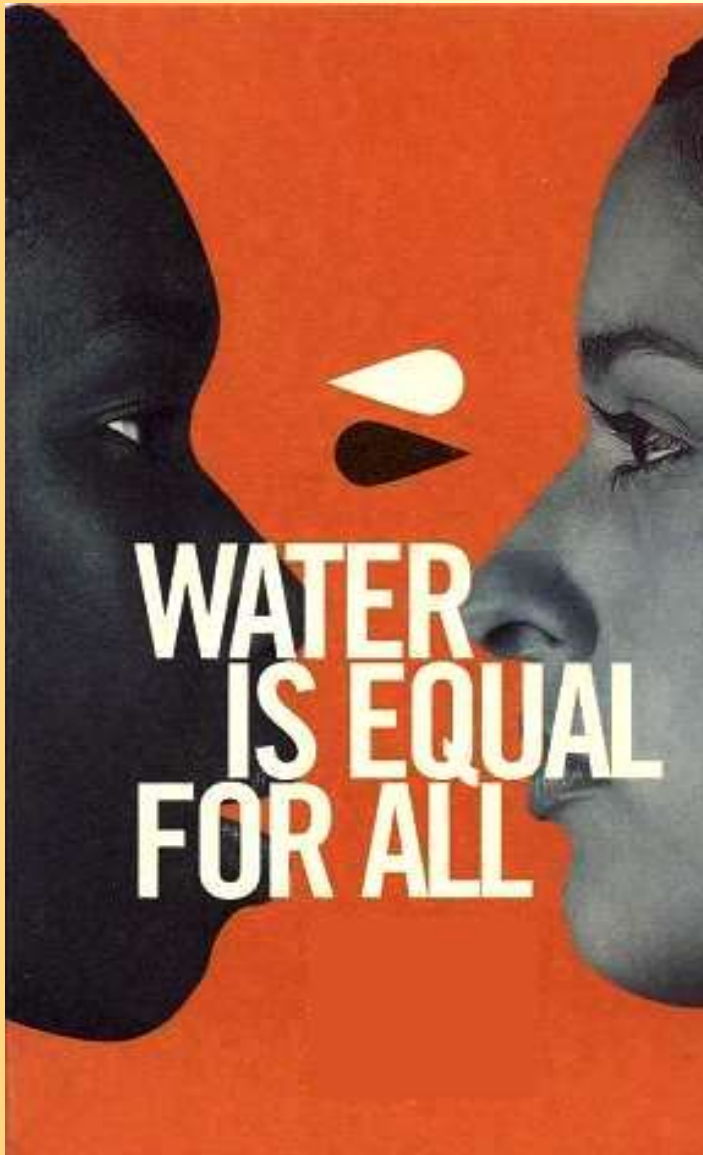

s3: sustainable school self-evaluation

Driving school improvement through sustainable development

As someone whose work supports Education for Sustainable Development how important are Human Rights and The Rights of the Child?

This image is part of a campaign.

What does it mean to you?

<http://www.wateryear2003.org/en>

Case-Study: Cochabamba 1999

Bolivia is the poorest country of Latin America.

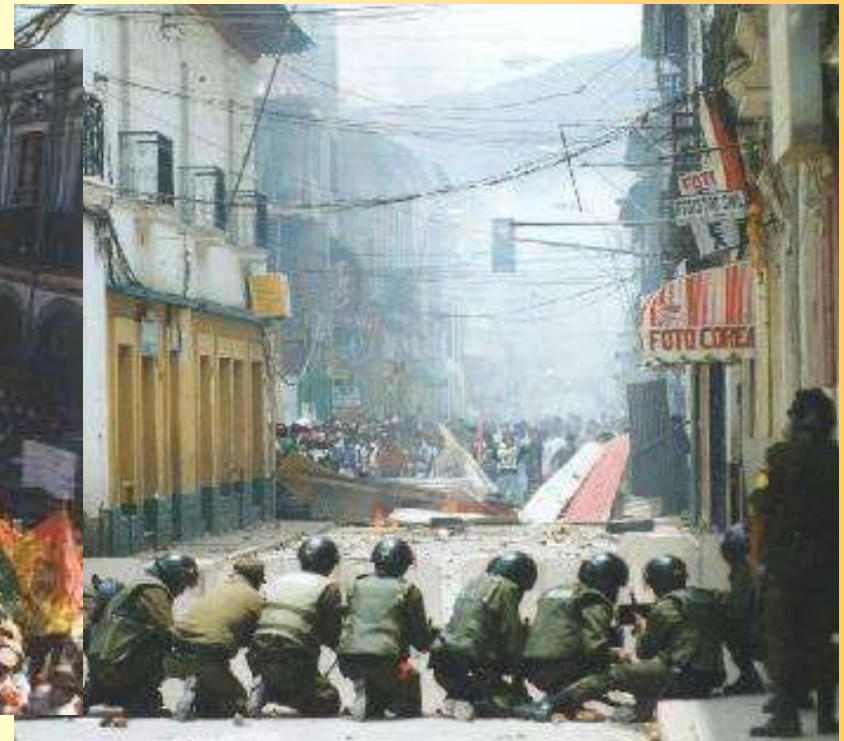

In the late 1990s, the World Bank said: we will cancel part of your debt and give you some aid money if you sell your public water system to a private company.

In 1999 the US-based engineering giant Bechtel was given a 40-year contract to have control over the water of the city of Cochabamba - on which more than half a million people survived. The contract included control of the water coming from the rain.

Immediately, the company doubled and tripled water rates for some of South America's poorest families, which received water bills equal to as much as 25 percent of their monthly income.

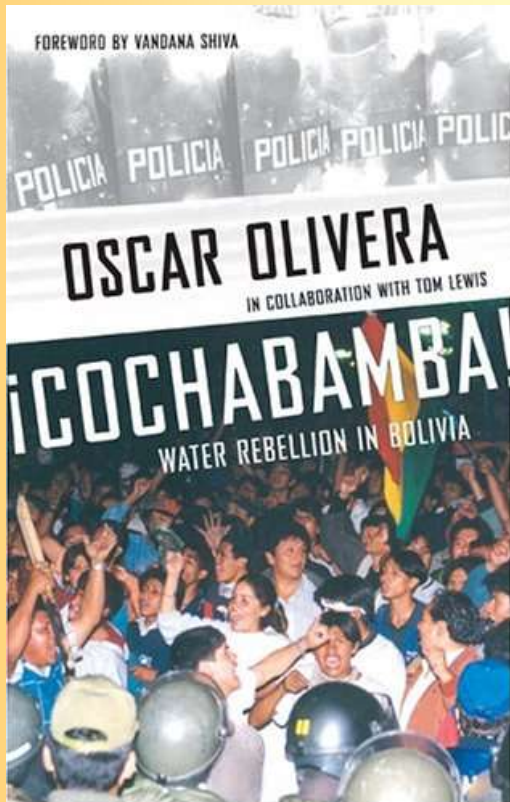

Case-Study: Cochabamba 2000

The people of Cochabamba took to the streets to protest. The Bolivian government declared a state of martial law. More than a hundred people were injured and one 17-year-old boy was killed.

Case-Study: Cochabamba 2000

In April 2000, as protests continued, the government had to terminate the contract with the company.

HEADLINES: People of Bolivia win water war!

Case-Study: Cochabamba 2006

The company then tried to sue the government of Bolivia. They asked for US$50 million - $25 million for lost profits and $25 million for damages.

People around the world started to put pressure in the company to drop the case against Bolivia. They sent e-mails to the company officials, organised protests and used the internet and the media to get public support for their campaign.

In January 2006, after 5 years of global protest, the company decided to settle the case. Bolivia only had to pay $0,30.

UN Convention on the Rights of the Child

EVERY CHILD MATTERS

SCHOOL SELF-EVALUATION (SEF)

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT PROCESS

BEHAVIOUR
& ATTENDANCE

PUPIL
VOICES

RAISING ACHIEVEMENT

GLOBAL CITIZENSHIP

HEALTH & SAFETY

RACE EQUALITY

ANTI-BULLYING

PERSONAL
HEALTH EDUCATION

INCLUSION & EQUAL OPPS.

Rights relating to:

SURVIVAL

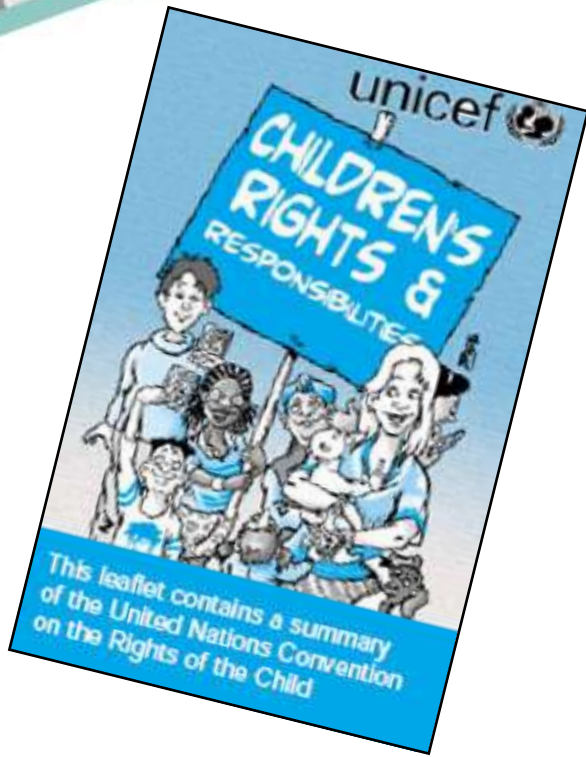

PROTECTION

DEVELOPMENT

PARTICIPATION

Making a difference where you live

Relevant Websites

- <http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/everychildmatters/strategy/strategyandgovernance/uncrc/unitednationsarticles/uncrcarticles/>
- <http://www.unicef.org/crc/>
- http://www.endwaterpoverty.org/documents/global_framework_for_action_briefing_final_1.pdf
- <http://www.oxfam.org.uk/education>

Children's Rights and Global Citizenship

- Children come to understand that global issues such as poverty, inequality and sustainability are fundamentally about human rights
- Grace (Year 6) said: "Changing how the world trades will actually help more people than giving money."

Making a difference where you live

One World Network North East

Providing professional development and guidance supporting a global dimension in North East schools

The EWE Centre, Esh Winning Primary School,
Durham DH7 9BE;
Tel: 0191 373 9799;
Email:averil.newsam@ownne.org
www.ownne.org