Do you want to explore your role in developing Community Cohesion, the Global Dimension, Active Citizenship, Human Rights, and Pupil Voice in your school or community?

The conference will address all these issues. Workshops will offer guidance, ideas and activities to incorporate these themes into curriculum planning and community projects.

It will celebrate and showcase the learning that has taken place in the six project schools and demonstrate to other schools and local authority personnel the potential for using RAPT in their setting.

Key Note Speakers:

Sir Keith Ajegbo

Former headmaster of Deptford Green School, London, and an advisor to the Home Office. He is author of a Government-commissioned report into Citizenship in schools.
